

08-450 Adult Community-Based Rehabilitation Program

Agency Description

The mission of the Adult Community-Based Rehabilitation Program is to provide housing, recreation, and other treatment activities aimed at resocialization rather than isolation of adult offenders who have been approved for participation in a work release program.

The goal of the program is to continue to provide for the housing of offenders who are determined to be qualified for work release programs through the Adult Community-Based Rehabilitation Program through a competitive selection process.

The program provides a smooth transition of offenders from prison back into society by affording an opportunity for offenders to obtain employment prior to release from state custody; this assists both the offender and his family. These facilities are nonsecure, community-based residential facilities that have generally been utilized as a reintegration resource. The use of the facilities has expanded as an alternative to incarceration for parole technical violators. The Department of Public Safety and Corrections has developed standard operating procedures (SOPs) to be followed by community contractors who house adult inmates in community rehabilitation centers; these SOPs include provisions for American Correctional Association (ACA) accreditation. The responsibilities of the Division of Probation and Parole have been expanded to include monitoring of functions and services of community rehabilitation centers (halfway houses and work release programs). Of the eight work release facilities monitored by the Division of Probation and Parole, three are contracted to private providers and five are operated through cooperative endeavor agreement with the local sheriff's office.
